I benge Duolingo, and I like the notes in Spanish podcast with Ben and Marina. I saw that they offered all their materials (transcripts, worksheets, grammar review) on the site for 200 euros. Has anyone used their materials other than the podcasts (which are useful but somehow unstructured for an absolute beginner)? Would it be worth it? Thank you! Ben and Marina bring you real conversations and natural language so you can start speaking Spanish that you will never find in a textbook. With over 100 Spanish podcasts with the popular Intermediate and Advanced series, the Inspired Beginners podcasts are for motivated learners who want to sound like professionals! For detailed information about the notesinspanish.com and their worksheets, see notesinspanish.com. I will miss the advanced podcasts, but personally I need to keep my brain tuned to listen to Castellano, and the intermediate podcasts are almost as good in this regard... Marina's pace is a little slower and her pronunciation a little more in the inter-podcasts (as they should be), but the topics and the conversations are just as interesting. I have no objection to getting my vocabulary and grammar lessons from the newsletters... these things seem to sink better into the visual format anyway. We have lined up some big projects for the end of 2008/early 2009 that they will love. Come on... give us a hint. 11 October 2009, 15:44 #3 Forero Senior Join Date: Nov 2006 Location: England Posts: 60 I am so lost... What happened to the advanced podcasts and what was the new amazing stuff that came out late last year/early this year that Ben keeps mentioning? :S 11th October 2009, 19:48 pm #4 Hero Forero Join Date: Mar 2006 Posts: 4,419 Hi Natalia. Now after this announcement we released Real Spanish Control and later the Crisis Collection, but the main advanced podcasts have been stopped and we do not plan to add this exact series. However, we are at work, albeit slowly due to the exhaustion of the parents, on new advanced materials and i hope to be in contact with news about it next month. Stay tuned on the newsletter!

We have finally managed to start notesinspanish.com, which means a whole series of changes! All notes in Spanish podcasts will be here from now on. We have our own shop where we will sell all worksheets. We no longer use Lulu.com for the worksheets. We had to slightly increase the price of the worksheets to cover the cost of payPas percentage and location costs. The new cost is USD 1.85 (just under 1 British Pound). Next week we will start Notes in Spanish Intermediate on the same page. We really hope that you like the new website, of course NFS will continue here as always. Any feedback on the new website that stores worksheets and anything else that comes to mind would be really welcome! Que Nervios! Look at it notesinspanish.com. There's also a new Advanced Podcast - Trapicheos! All notes in Spanish podcasts and worksheets can now be found in their new home, Notes in Spanish.com Come and Have a Look! All notes in Spanish podcasts and worksheets can now be found in their new home, Notes in Spanish.com Come and Have a Look! [Download MP3] Due to popular demand... Marina and Ben bring you a note from Spain podcast in Spanish. For all non-Spanish speakers there don't worry, we will be back in English next time (in about ten days when we're back on holiday...)
